INTRODUCING FORKED

[ finish. BRASS + OPAL. ]

"This year we're releasing a number of collections that combine our full experience of solid metal engineering, combining multiple techniques in a single piece. Forked is one of our first drops with this aesthetic. There's decorative opaque glass globes, lightweight spun metal, our solid metal knurling and the unique rough cast fork detail. The light qualities of the collection are really versatile and usable in loads of different spaces, and the size and volume of Forked really makes its presence felt."

MASSIMO BUSTER MINALE

Founder and Creative Director, Buster + Punch.

Buster + Punch launches FORKED, a versatile range of lights exploring the brand's passion and expertise for metalworking. Forked combines Buster + Punch's new casting process with precision machining, delicate hand-spun metal, and handblown glass globes. Modular in format, the design fuses the precision of machined processes with the unique aesthetic of casting. The new collection unlocks a new level of interior styling options with the larger scales and forms of Forked.

The debut Forked collection includes modular ceiling and pendant lights in medium or large. A hand-spun solid metal shade in matching finish or handblown globe in smoked or opal glass can be added or combined with a shade. Forked is available in steel, burnt steel, brass or gun metal finishes, and will be expanded over time as a range. And each variation comes with a specially developed dimmable B+P LED bulb, with proportions optimised for each specific light.

This is the first lighting range to match Buster + Punch's new CAST hardware, contrasting dramatically against the precise Linear knurling of the light fitting. The forms of the Forked shade and globe allow the light pattern to be tailored to fit the intentions of a space. Add a globe for ambience or opt for a shade if you need a more directional light. Should you need to switch things up in the future, the modular globes and shades can be swapped out.

Forked's aesthetic and flexibility responds to the demand for more ways to link together spaces with the brand's iconic attitude. For the brand itself, Forked represents another step towards the figurative House of Buster + Punch – entire spaces and dwellings clad in B+P's home fashion.
